

Dear Commission Members of the FCC:

Your lack of action in controlling the flagrant abuses of the public airwaves by Clear Channel Broadcasting (2000 election) and the Sinclair group (current election) make it clear to me that your organization has been taken over by right wing political radicals. Neither Clear Channel nor the Sinclair Group should have the right to control the public airwaves and thus the public thinking concerning political races. This is supposed to be a free society for all of its citizens. Why do you allow these men such an important role in deciding our next President?

I think you need to rethink your position on the ownership of multiple media entities like Clear channel and the Sinclair group to ensure that our democracy continues. You need to remember that your function is to represent the public interest. Stop worrying so much about Janet Jackson's bare breast and start worrying about your role in the right wing push!

Thank you,

Patrick A. Stevens
